

Price list for fiber optic cable cutting machines

Article Overview

Fiber optic cable cutting tools typically range from $10 to $200 depending on type, brand, and functionality.

Pricing Overview

Basic Fiber Optic Cutters and Strippers: Simple handheld cutters for small-diameter fibers usually cost $10-$50 on platforms like Amazon and Netceed . These are suitable for light-duty or DIY projects.

Professional Precision Cutters: Tools designed for clean, square, and burr-free cuts in plastic fiber ducts or loose tube cables range from $50-$150. These often include ergonomic designs, Kevlar cutters, and multi-purpose shears for industrial applications .

Multi-Function or High-End Kits: Comprehensive kits that include fiber strippers, duct cutters, scribe pens, and extraction tools can cost $150-$200 or more, providing durability, precision, and efficiency for professional installation and maintenance .

Factors Affecting Price

- o Tool Type: Single-purpose cutters are cheaper than multi-functional kits.
- o Material and Build Quality: Tools made with high-grade steel or ergonomic designs are more expensive.
- o Brand and Supplier: Established brands like Jonard Tools or specialized suppliers like Netceed and Fibreplus may charge a premium for reliability and warranty.
- o Quantity and Shipping: Bulk orders or international shipping may include tariffs or additional costs, such as a 16-44% tariff for shipments to the United States .

Where to Buy

- o Mouser Electronics: Offers a range of fiber optic cutting tools with pricing filters and quantity-based discounts .
- o Amazon (US & UK): Provides both basic and professional cutters with varying stock levels and prices .
- o Fibreplus and Netceed: Specialized suppliers with professional-grade tools and kits for industrial applications . In summary, for casual or small-scale use, expect to pay $10-$50, while professional-grade tools and kits for industrial fiber optic work can cost $50-$200+, depending on features and supplier.
